MASS SLAUGHTER FEARED AT BILBAO

NEW TAX BILLS FAIL AS HOUSE SESSION CLOSES

Committee Adjourns Its Meeting Without Vote on Many Issues

PAY INCREASES APPROVED

48-Hour Week For Women Needs Davey's Approval

COLUMBUS, April 29 — (UP) — With one sweeping stroke, the Ohio house of representatives today had killed all legislation providing for imposition of new taxes.

Bills providing for increases in the gasoline, sales, cigaret, admissions, liquid fuel, utility and other taxes died when the house taxation committee, meeting for its final hearing of the regular session, adjourned sine die.

The legislature passed four bills providing for increases in salaries.

The senate adopted 28 to 1 and sent to the house the Howard bill, increasing the salary of the registrar of motor vehicles from $4500 to $5000 annually.

Highway Men Aided

Also passed and sent to the house was the Gallagher bill, increasing the annual pay of the highway director from $6500 to $8000; 15 divisional engineers from $4000 to $5000; four deputy directors from $4500 to $6000 and the first assistant director from $5000 to $6500.

The salary of the state superintendent of building and loans was increased from $5000 to $6,500 under the DeRichter house bill, passed by the senate 24 to 7. The bill also increased the commerce director's pay from $6500 to $7500.

The Ward bill, fixing a minimum salary of $1200 and a maximum salary of $5000 for county commissioners according to the county's population also passed the senate. It previously had passed the house.

Hour Limitation Set

A bill establishing a maximum 48-hour week for women factory workers and a 48-hour week for women engaged in other types of employment required only Gov. Davey's approval today to become law.

The bill, passed by the senate yesterday 27 to 0, broadens present laws to include beauty parlors and other comparatively new businesses. The present maximum (Continued on Page Seven)

MANY FARMERS READY TO BEGIN CORN PLANTING

Many Pickaway county farmers, especially those tilling sandy soil, will be planting corn late this week or the first part of next week. A few have already planted some corn, but the recent rains have made the soil "too sticky" for planting during the last few days.

F. K. Blair, county agent, predicted the week of May 10, if weather conditions permit, will find farmers at the peak of the planting season.

YOUTH CAPTURED AFTER STRIKING, ABDUCTING GIRL

DENVER, Colo., April 29 — (UP) — Police today captured Floyd Sallee, 22, who beat a girl acquaintance and carried her away across his shoulders.

When first sighted by a railroad watchman, Sallee was still carrying the girl, several hours after he had taken her from her home. She was unconscious. The watchman gave chase and Sallee dropped the girl, Helen Dean, 19.

Outdistanced, the watchman notified police. They captured the youth a few minutes later, in the lower northeast side of the city. The girl was taken to a hospital. The extent of her injuries was not learned immediately.

Sixteen police cruisers and a fire truck equipped with searchlights had been hunting Sallee and the girl throughout the night.

Sallee is a suspected drug addict. He was released from jail a few days ago after being held several days for investigation on Miss Dean's complaint that he threatened to kill her.

U. S. STEEL GOES UP AT OPENING DESPITE TENSION

Uncertainty Over Gold Buying Policy of U. S. is Noted

LONDON, PARIS SELL

World Commodity Market Shows Tension

NEW YORK, April 29 — (UP) — Nervous tension gripped world commodity and security markets today, although stocks here strengthened in moderately active trading.

At the opening of the New York stock exchange prices were irregular. U. S. Steel at 100 1/2 was off fractionally. Then buying demand brought a rally which carried U. S. Steel to 102 1/2 and brought gains of a point or more in other leaders.

But the nervous undertone again took command and prices eased from their highs as trading tried up. Europe was reported selling, and the odd-lot sales—generally representing the public's participation—also were mostly on the selling side.

DUKE PREPARES TO JOIN WALLY AT HER CHATEAU

WOLFGANG, Austria, April 29 — (UP) — The Duke of Windsor broke his telephone endurance record last night with a call to Mrs. Wallis Simpson which lasted nearly an hour.

He was consulting her about joining her at the Chateau de Candé, France, immediately after the award of a final divorce decree to her, probably Monday.

It was understood that an arrangement for him to start for the chateau Monday or Tuesday, traveling by way of Paris, was confirmed.

Most of his luggage already packed, the duke is visiting shop keepers, paying accounts and bidding them good bye. He is reported in excellent spirits now that his long separation from Mrs. Simpson is coming to an end. He is exercising diligently, and is reported in good physical condition.

DOCTORS SAY FASTING MOUNTAINEER TO DIE

STOOPING OAK, Tenn., April 29 — (UP) — Physicians said today Jackson Whitlow, who has not eaten for 51 days, could live but a short time and that his self-imposed fast would end in death.

The 47-year-old mountain trapper, so weak he scarcely could move, remained confident the Lord would save him but Mrs. J. B. Smith and R. E. Standifer said his body was too exhausted to take food and death was almost certain within a "very short time."

Speaking in a barely audible whisper the gaunt mountaineer assured his wife, however, that "Jehovah is all-powerful and will save me."

RIVER RECEDES FROM MARIETTA

Ohio Fills First Floors of Several Stores, But Begins to Fall

MARIETTA, April 29 — (UP) — The Ohio river reached a crest of 40 feet — four feet above flood level — here today and began receding slowly.

Merchants in that part of the Marietta business district nearest the swollen river kept all night vigil, watching the muddy water creep slowly into their places of business. The water covered first floors of several.

The flood that earlier in the week had inundated lowlands from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, W. Va., has lost much of its fury through "flattening out" by the time it reached Marietta. Damage was small here and the run-off was rapid.

The residential sections of the city were affected little by the high water except for flooded cellars. The water crept into first floors of a few homes in the east end.

It was Marietta's worst April flood since 1901 when the river stage was 41 feet.

NORRIS PLAN FAVORED

Opponents Certain They Have F. D. Beaten

WASHINGTON, April 29 — (UP) — Forces opposing judiciary reorganization, confident of defeating President Roosevelt's program for adding six new justices to the supreme court, today concentrated on blocking a compromise which would add two new members.

Sen. Edward R. Burke, D., Neb., said foes of the bill are so certain of defeating the measure that "we are ready to vote—right now."

"I am hopeful that we can also kill any administration attempt to compromise on two additional justices," he asserted.

Administration leaders, apparently in no hurry for a final decision, insisted that the senate would approve the court bill despite the disclosure that at least ten of the 81 members of the judiciary committee would vote to report it adversely.

Three Developments
Announcement of the committee line-up was followed by three important developments.

Key Witness

CHESTER WOOLFALK, reputed "mystery man" in the life of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, wealthy La Grange, Ky., widow, was expected to be called as surprise witness at the Newcastle, Ky., trial of former Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, accused of the slaying of Mrs. Taylor.

Judge Overrules Move For Dismissal in Kentucky Killing

NEW CASTLE, Ky., April 29 — (UP) — The jury which is to decide whether Brigadier General Henry H. Denhardt murdered a pretty widow he was to marry left the courthouse in a school bus today to view the scene of the crime.

NEW CASTLE, Ky., April 29 — (UP) — Judge Charles C. Marshall today overruled a defense motion for directed acquittal of Brigadier General Henry H. Denhardt, on trial for the murder of a pretty widow.

The defense immediately called George Baker, near whose farm home Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor was slain and who had been a principal witness for the prosecution. A map of the death scene was stretched on the floor in front of the witness and the jury. Baker identified various salient points indicated on the map, among them the spot where Mrs. Taylor's body was found.

Denhardt was to testify as his own first witness. It was understood, but Baker was called by the defense merely for "further cross-examination."

Four More Steamers Pass Blockade With Food

PARIS, April 29 — (UP) — Basque sources here estimated today that 4,000 civilians have been killed in the Bilbao area, 800 of whom were at Guernica.

LONDON, April 29 — (UP) — Great Britain and France are considering plans for evacuation of scores of thousands of women and children from the Bilbao area in fear of mass slaughter of the civilian population, it was disclosed today.

The British government is committed in principle to the evacuation and the French government has promised full cooperation.

The only question to be settled is that of detail—particularly whether and in what manner the British battle fleet will protect the refugees from nationalist warships. Basis for the evacuation plan is a proposal submitted by a British parliamentary committee.

Wilfred Roberts, liberal chairman of this committee, announced that it was hoped to start the evacuation by Saturday. This plan involves taking the refugees to St. Jean De Luz, on the French coast near the Spanish frontier, and thence transferring them to temporary homes in France, Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries.

Atrocities Heard

Horror spread through the democratic countries of Europe at the stories coming from the loyalist side in Spain. As the nationalists advance to Bilbao, it is asserted, great squadrons of bombing planes rain incendiary bombs on town and village and then, when the population flees, descend to bomb and machine gun the people as they seek safety along the roads and in the fields.

The nationalists blame loyalist incendiaries. The loyalists charge unqualified not only that nationalists (Continued on Page Seven)

STOCK CONTROL SOUGHT BY S.E.C. TO 'AID PUBLIC'

Margin Requirements Stay Same Despite Warning of Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, April 29—(UP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission today was preparing again to tighten stock market control. But it was understood that despite President Roosevelt's latest warning against public speculation, there was no immediate intention of raising margin requirements.

A high SEC official explained that the commission was not concerned so much at present with the "little fellows" dabbling in stocks on margin as it was with making the market "safe for the public" from possible manipulation by "insiders."

In discussing his recent warning to government employees against speculating in stocks and commodities, the president said he agreed with the remark that "what was good for the government workers was good for the general public" and added that he had in mind what had happened in 1929.

FARMERS WANT TO HIRE HANDS WITH TRAILERS

DES MOINES, Ia. (UP)—Automobile trailer houses soon may dot the agricultural landscape if a farming innovation in northwest Iowa gains national popularity.

Recent help advertisements for farm hands have in many cases stipulated married men with trailer houses.

Agricultural authorities are not hazarding a guess on what this new factor in the hired help situation will mean.

In former years, Iowa farmers hired unmarried men, boarding them in their own homes, or employed married helpers, providing them with separate houses.

NUDISTS BEGIN BRITISH DRIVE

LONDON (UP)—The British nudists' 1937 campaign is under way in the hopes that summer is just around the corner.

Developments calculated to stimulate bashful converts to the "altogether" uniform include a 100 per cent nudist boarding house in North London and evening parties in the homes of nudists—first one place and then another. The men and women—and children—at these parties talk, dance and have light refreshments. Some wear trunks but many wear nothing.

The police do not care as long as the parties are private and quiet. Public decency is not shocked and the law is powerless even if the police did want to crash the party.

Unusual Incident Recalled

Last year there were an estimated 25,000 nudists in Britain, despite much opposition to the nature cult and a possible setback nudism may have incurred because of the incident at St. Paul's Cathedral.

A thousand worshipers were stunned when a young woman in a dark cloak walked to the altar, raised her arms in supplication, released her cloak and stood naked. Investigation disclosed the young woman was a fanatic pacifist.

This year the nudists' organization expect a 50 per cent increase in membership, perhaps a new high of 50,000 nature worshipers. Secluded colonies have been established throughout the country. Nudists estimate that on every day the sun shines, 500 give nudism a first trial and 10 to 20 become converts.

An officer of the National Sun and Air League, nudist pioneers, said that nudism was making real headway in England.

"Local councils are beginning to see that we are not cranks," the official said. "We have established a chain of colonies in many parts of the country. We have even recruited a bishop—but I'm not saying in which one."

"So far, most British nudists are professional men and their families, principally doctors and lawyers, but we are making a drive this year for the working man and his family."

Nudists hint that a big congress of European nudists will be held this summer, perhaps in England, but they are not revealing details yet.

Open-crowned hats are being boomed for summer wear, both for formal and sports wear.

MOORE FROM HOLLYWOOD

The Puccini operas have always been high in the list of Grace Moore's favorites and she has been singing a Puccini aria almost every week in her radio program. On Saturday, May 1st, in her first broadcast of the series from Hollywood, she sings another, the Musetta Waltz from "La Boheme," in the broadcast over the Columbia network at 8 p. m. (EST).

Victor Herbert is another composer who finds a prominent place in the Moore programs and in this program she sings his "Kiss Me Again." Other songs to be sung by Miss Moore are "By the Bend of the River" by Clara Edwards and "Clavelitos" by Valverde.

Vincent Lopez and his orchestra will supply the instrumental music. Lopez went to Hollywood for these programs.

TWO OPERATIC STARS

Two eminent popular stars of the Metropolitan Opera and the concert stage will be soloists of the General Motors Promenade Concerts program of Sunday evening, May 2, which a nation-wide hook-up of NBC-WJZ ("Blue") network stations will broadcast at 7 p. m. eastern time.

The two soloists will be Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, and Helen Jepson, soprano. They will sing from the stage of Carnegie Hall in New York, appearing with the General Motors Symphony Orchestra, augmented by the 16-voiced Male Chorus, under the conducting baton of Erno Rapee.

Both soloists are American born, and illustrate the increasing dominance by native-born singers of the opera and concert worlds in the United States. The great baritone was born in Bakersfield, California and Miss Jepson at Titusville, Pennsylvania — when she moved at an early age to Akron, Ohio, where her early life was spent.

CHINA MAY BAR GROUP FEASTING

SHANGHAI (UP)—Group eating, age-old Chinese custom, has been termed a menace to health, and its abolition demanded by the Anti-Tuberculosis Association of China.

The practice of a large family or dinner party eating from common dishes in the center of a table, each person helping himself with his own chop-sticks, has been found to be a dangerous method of spreading disease. If the program of the anti-tuberculosis group is successful, the custom will pass into the limbo of foot-binding and queue-wearing.

Hard Struggle Foreseen

Because Chinese have been eating in this manner for centuries, it is conceded that the proposed sweeping change will require the expenditure of considerable effort and time before it becomes universal. Plans call for a long-range inter-related program to educate the people to new methods of eating. A scientific committee will be appointed to make a thorough study of the question and to suggest more hygienic methods of dining, with due regard for old custom and prejudice.

When the data are collected, a society for changing the eating habits of the nation is expected to be formed. The movement will then enter the active stage, with an extensive program of education and propaganda through the newspapers, magazines, schools, radio stations, billboards, and other media.

Restaurants May Aid

Those supporting the program say that the assistance of the government is essential for the eventual success. With the aid of authorities, it is pointed out, the co-operation of restaurants and other public eating places can be obtained.

In recent demonstrations speaking against the custom of group eating, with the aid of chopsticks and porcelain spoons, have shown how ill persons may spread the germs of disease to everyone with whom they eat. That the typically Chinese family-style dinners, intriguing to tourists and newcomers to the Orient, eventually may give way to Western plate-service, is not only an interesting speculation but the earnest objective of the health crusaders.

JAMES OTY, 27, OF N. HOLLAND, AUTO'S VICTIM

Accident in Springfield
Results in Fatality,
Wednesday

H. HOLLOWAY QUESTIONED

Police Charge Traffic Light
Ignored By Driver

NEW HOLLAND, April 29 — James Oty, 27, W.P.A. worker of New Holland, died in the Springfield city hospital, Wednesday, following injuries received at 4:50 Tuesday afternoon, when the automobile in which he was riding with Harry Holloway, 25, of New Holland, collided with another automobile after the Holloway car is alleged to have crashed a red light in the main business district of Springfield.

Holloway was taken into custody on a reckless driving charge, and is being held in Springfield city prison. He is to be arraigned in Municipal court in Springfield. He was not injured, and the man in the car with which he collided was not hurt.

Whether more serious charges will be filed against him was not indicated.

Oty sustained a fractured skull and did not regain consciousness. He is married and leaves his widow and one child, who resides in the eastern outskirts of New Holland.

The body was brought back to New Holland pending funeral arrangements, which will be completed late Wednesday.

Oty was employed on the farm of Ralph Crab, near Clarksburg, and made his home with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holloway.

He was born in Ross county, the son of Charles and Bessie Ater Oty. His mother; two brothers, Clem and Clarence of Clarksburg; and three sisters, Mrs. Oliver Masie of New Holland, Mrs. John Rinehart of Clarksburg, and Maud, at home, survive.

AMANDA CHURCH CALLS MINISTER TO FILL PULPIT

Rev. Albert J. Conley, Louisville, Ky., has accepted a call to the pulpit of the Amanda Presbyterian church.

The minister, who is 28, is the only son of Rev. B. H. Conley, pastor of the Rushville Presbyterian church. His coming to Amanda will inaugurate the unusual circumstances of father and son occupying pulpits in the same county.

Rev. Conley, who will graduate May 18 at the Presbyterian Seminary in Louisville, has been serving a church in Hopkinsville, Ky., during his senior year. He obtained his bachelor of science degree at Wooster college.

Succeeds Rev. Brown
He is married and has one five months-old son, David Bertram.

Fired Dancer's Skirt

ACCUSED by police of having applied a lighted match to a hula dancer's skirt as she danced in a waterfront cafe at San Pedro, Cal., Matthew Donahue, 57-year-old mechanic, was held on charges of suspicion of murder. The dancer, May Perdue, died of her burns.

The new pastor will succeed Rev. George Brown, who retired from the ministry early this year, following an eight-year stay at Amanda.

Elders of the church, who extended the call to Rev. Conley after his trial sermon before the congregation, April 11, are: Frank Barr, clerk; E. P. Ritchie, Irvin Dean, Frederick Solt, Merle Smith and Alvin Barr.

Rev. and Mrs. Conley and their son spent several weeks with the former's parents at West Rushville early this spring when they were driven from their home in Louisville by the high waters of the January flood.

Law Flaunted in Courthouse
PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Multnomah County courthouses, supposedly the building in which all acts are done in the name of the law, is facing a serious problem. Nine hats, several overcoats and other clothing articles have been reported stolen by jurors and county employees. The sheriff's office and numerous amateur detectives are working on the case.

ACCIDENT REPORT TERSE
SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Addition of C. J. Fish to the Salem police department as an efficiency expert was being seriously considered. Fish, a truck driver, in filling out an accident report tersely stated: "Dog chased cat across street. Cat-chasing dog was struck by my truck."

5,000 BUCKEYE FARMERS AIDED BY U. S. PROJECT

Short-Term and Emergency Loans Listed in Task During Period

FARMSTEADS PROVIDED

5,843 Acres to Be Used in Scioto Area

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 29.—Pausing on the eve of the second anniversary, regional officials here today examined Ohio activities, which show that more than 5,000 Buckeye farmers have received rehabilitation assistance since the program was inaugurated in this state. This figure does not include needy farm families receiving grants.

The RA program, started April 30, 1935, was termed by R. C. Smith, regional director, as a move to put the marginal farmer on a self-sustaining basis, and point the way toward more economic use of non-agricultural land.

Rehabilitation
Rehabilitation activities include making short-term loans to farmers needing operating capital, emergency loans to flood and drought sufferers, grants to needy rural families, cooperative loans to low-income farm groups and assistance in adjustment of farm debt.

To date, more than two million dollars have been loaned to Ohio farmers. Approximately half a million dollars in grants have been given out, and some 18 or 20 cooperative loans made to assist groups in financing binders, canning outfits, herd sires and similar ventures.

Cooperating with state and county voluntary farm debt adjustment committees, the RA has assisted in adjusting nearly 2,000 debt cases," Smith said. By helping farmers and creditors to arrange refinancing, time extensions, budgeted repayment programs and equitable downward adjustment of debts, the RA and committees have been able to reduce an original indebtedness of these 2,000 farmers from $4,873,992 to $4,255,288.

Land Use
In the so-called rural problem area of southern Ohio, three land use demonstration projects are in the process of completion. Their purpose, it was pointed out, is to demonstrate more economic use of land now characterized by tax delinquency, erosion and low living standards.

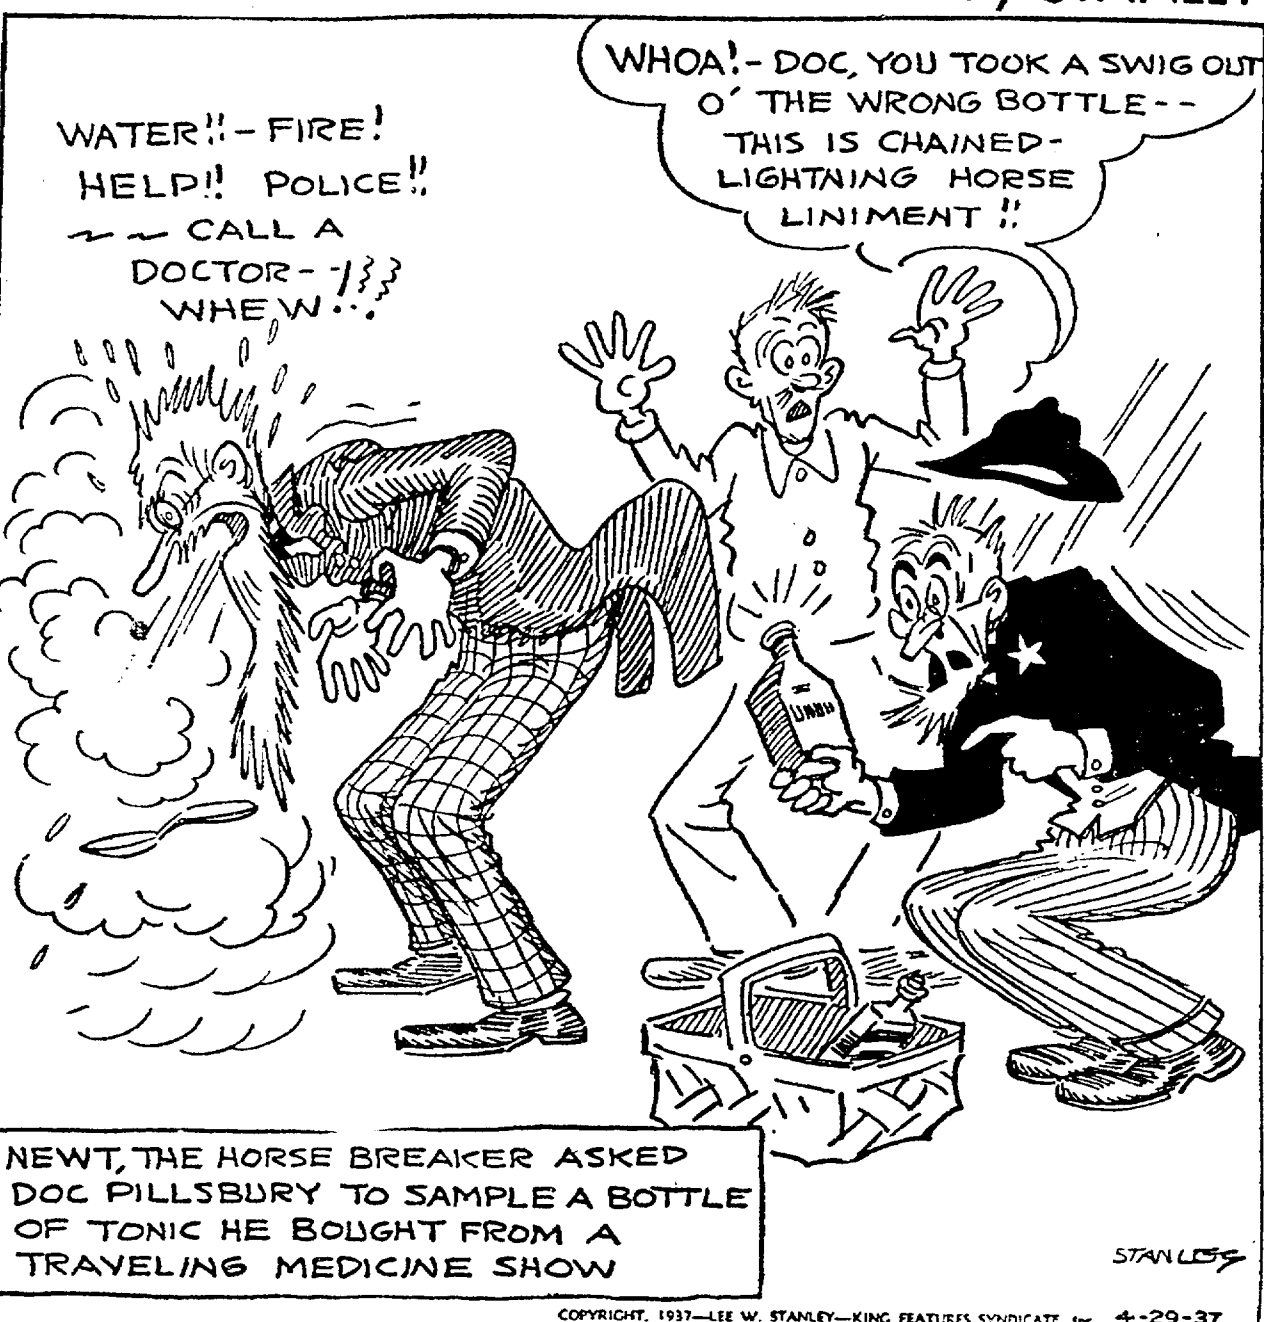

The southeastern Ohio soil erosion project near Zanesville includes approximately 4,400 acres, being developed mainly for erosion control. Reforestation, water conservation and flood control also are major factors guiding development plans. The project is 74 percent complete.

Zaleski forest, headquarters at McArthur, includes about 17,449 acres, which is being developed mainly for reforestation. It is 52 percent complete, with approximately 500 men at work.

Of similar nature are developments being made on the Ross-Hocking project near Chillicothe, where reforestation is the major aim on about 14,000 acres of hilly land.

On all of these projects, dams are being constructed to aid in water conservation and flood control. Recreational developments, such as fire-places, cabins, and group camps also are included. A large percentage of workmen have been taken from relief rolls.

Resettlement
Since many of the families voluntarily selling land to the federal government for these projects will need assistance in relocating in more fertile areas, two farmstead projects are in the process of development in the state.

One of these, Scioto Farms, includes 5,843 acres in scattered tracts near Chillicothe. It is planned to improve 112 farmsteads on these tracts, which will later be offered to qualified applicants on long-term mortgage arrangements. First choice will be given to families moving from land use demonstration areas.

A similar project, Ohio Farms, is being developed near London. It will include 48 farmsteads on 2,768 acres.

160 ACRES OF LAND LOST GOLD BEACH, Ore. (UP)—A half section of land purchased by Charles G. Johnson, Milaca, Minn., in 1902 and on which he has paid yearly taxes of $35, is missing. Johnson decided to take a trip west and look at his land, supposedly rich in timber. Arriving here, he made a trip up the Rogue River, but returned without finding his property.

SIT-DOWN SEEN AS ILLUSTRATING AMERICAN FADS

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The sit-down strike is just a "mental epidemic," something on the order of crossword puzzles, miniature golf, "handie" and other popular fancies that sweep the country from time to time. That's the definition accorded the new expression of labor unrest by Dr. William T. Root, Pittsburgh psychologist.

"There is nothing unique or personal in the sit-down strike insofar as I can see it," said Dr. Root. "Suggestibility is a common characteristic of all races and all nationalities."

"Mob and crowd suggestion of all sorts frequently reach the state which can be defined as 'mob hysteria.' It might be said that America seems to be particularly given to mental epidemics of various types."

But Dr. Root warned that sit-down strikes carried on independently of any labor movement are likely to result in harm.

"Such affairs," he said, "may tend to make the whole sit-down movement laughable. They can easily laugh themselves right out of the public picture."

Feed Sales Increase In State During 1936

COLUMBUS, April 29.—Reduction by drought of feeds produced in 1936, and an improvement in the economic condition of Ohio farmers, probably both were factors in the large increase in the amount of commercial feeds purchased for use in this state in 1936.

Sales made by 225 firms who sell 89 percent of all feeds in Ohio were 503,153 tons, as compared with 410,737 tons sold in 1935. The high point in sales of commercial feeds in Ohio occurred in 1929, when 668,333 tons were sold. Sales declined in 1929 to the low point of 289,821 tons.

Mixed feeds apparently were more popular with buyers than unmixed feeds, as sales in the first classification increased 51.4 percent while sales of unmixed feeds gained 22.5 percent. The total tonnage of mixed feeds sold was 256,608. The greatest increase in sales occurred in mixed feeds for hogs, more than twice as many tons being sold in 1936 as in 1935.

A greater tonnage of mixed feeds are bought for poultry than for dairy cattle, hogs, and all other livestock combined. Poultrymen purchased 144,213 tons of feed in 1936, an increase of 46.4 percent over amounts bought in 1935.

Of the unmixed feed, middlings lead the procession in amounts sold, followed by bran, meat scraps, soybean meal, hominy, and gluten feeds. The amount of soybean meal sold is an indication of the farmers' readiness to buy new feeds that have been proved valuable. Dealers sold 24,287 tons of soybeans meal in Ohio in 1935 but only 8,115 tons of the same feed in 1934.

A further check of the sales list shows that the soybean meal is replacing several other feeds in Ohio rations. More linseed meal, bran, gluten feeds, and hominy were sold in 1934 than in 1935. Soybean meal has become popular for feeding most classes of livestock, although it is not recommended for use in large amounts to fatten hogs.

In some cases, animals furnished part of their own feed as 3,577 tons of unmixed milk products were sold in addition to the am-

TODAY'S BOOKS

When Rudyard Kipling was 70 he sat down to write his autobiography. He made no announcements to the world; the existence of the manuscript was unknown until his death. This book has just been published and offered to the public under the title "Something of myself for my friends, known and unknown."

Kipling's career needs no reviewing; his name and his books are part of the heritage of the English speaking races. He left no phase of life untouched by the magic of his words. He knew men and he knew mankind. But what kind of a man was he himself? What was the background of his genius? "Something of myself" answers many of the questions about Kipling.

It is the story of a boy in England; of a young man in India, observing, beginning to jot down the results of that observation; of the life that followed, the inner life lying behind the public figure of the successful author. There are observations on men and events, on the genesis of many of his books, and how they came to be written, on homely details of everyday life.

It is still a land of opportunity. If a man falls at everything else, he can always run for office.

South Bloomfield Teachers Careful to Prevent Accidents

NEW BIRD TALE TOLD

Madison Township Family Stricken With Mumps

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 78

While in South Bloomfield Wednesday, we were much pleased to see how well the school children are protected against danger.

We noticed a marching line of children faced to the east, and moving toward the much traveled state highway through the village. Crawled out of the machine and hurried over to where they were to find out what was really going on. A prim, fine looking, kindly chap greeted us when we asked what this thing was all about. By this time no one need tell us what was going on, the line of children was marching across the highway, traffic being blocked with fish poles by a couple of husky, live-wire boys. These children live on the east side of the highway and were being escorted across to safety.

This safety game is played morning, noon and evening.

The teaching staff at South Bloomfield is composed of Karl Drum, seventh and eighth grades, the other six, by Miss Georgia Bowers and Miss Margaret Dunlap.

The "last day" of school for this school year is on Thursday, May 6 with a "big time", eats and everything.

With just the very small part we have seen of this Bloomfield school would be willing to wager more than an even bet they have had a good school there the last year.

Defends "Panties"

TO CRITICISM by Chicago psychiatrists of his method of disciplining prisoners by forcing them to sit in the prison rotunda in pink silk panties or Mother Hubbard dresses, Warden Fred Hunt of the Granite, Okla., reformatory says that "ridicule is the best punishment. It's like standing a child in school with a dunce cap on his head." The warden had tried out his method on several escaped convicts, forcing them to rouge their face in addition to wearing girls' clothes.

er bird houses are two Wren, single apartment houses, small and circular in form. The birds are already on the job and surely must be pleased with their new homes.

But here is a real bird story and a true one. A female dove, which has spent much time in the Cooper home as a pet, has been given its liberty with the hundreds of other birds about the Cooper grounds. Yesterday this tame, pet dove flew down to Mrs. Cooper and while held in her hand laid an egg. This is not "just a bird story", but the absolute truth.

Mumps Hits Family

Walden Sherman and family of Madison township, some eight of them, are having "some swell time" of it—all have the mumps. The mumps germ, microbe or something, has not been at all partial to the Madison people most all of them being visited.

Old Brickworkers Present

Quite a few of the "old boys" who used to work on local brick yards are yet with us, and if we can find some of them and they are in a mood to talk, we'll give you something of the old time brick making days in Ashville.

There are quite a few lots yet here especially in the Doby addition where bricks were first made, that brick bats can be found in plenty.

Schools to Close

Within a few days most all the schools of the community will be "shutting up shop" for the school year just past. "And how about it, Mary or Willie did you pass?" "And that meanly old thing of a teacher had it in for us", so say some of the kiddies.

work week for women in industry is 50 hours.

The house passed and sent to the senate a bill introduced by Rep. Frank Grubbs, D., Fayette, to establish a division of mental diseases in the welfare department and set up out-patient hospitals for treatment during early stages.

The house defeated, 85 to 52, a resolution providing for a nine-member commission to study relief financing and recommend legislation.

Also sent to the senate were the McCulloch bill, authorizing construction of private dams for water conservation and reducing the assessed value of contiguous lands and the Easton bill, increasing the number of wives, widows and mothers of World War veterans eligible to admission to the Madison Home, Madison, O., to 40.

Seats on Elevators

A bill requiring seats be provided for operators of passenger elevators was passed and sent to the senate, as was a measure providing for the registration of milk containers by non-profit corporations.

Parent-teacher associations and similar organizations interested in school welfare would be permitted to have meals in school cafeterias under a bill passed by the house and sent to the senate.

A bill increasing speed limits to 20 miles per hour in business districts, 25 miles per hour in residential districts, 30 miles an hour in villages and 45 miles an hour outside municipalities was passed by the senate and sent to the house.

A bill licensing automobile dealers and salesmen and creating a three-member board also was passed by the senate.

HARVARD USES SMALL AIRSHIP FOR MESSAGES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—The "Graf Zeppelin" causes little excitement at Harvard College as it makes daily flights from "Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen."

The Zepp, a 16-inch model of the German airship, is used to convey messages between the physics building and the engineering school, called "Lakehurst and Friedrichshafen."

The airship is operated electrically on cables stretching from the buildings, 150 feet distant. It was invented and installed by Acting Dean Harry R. Mimmo of the engineering school.

On leaving the station under its own power the aluminum tube touches off a switch as it rises from the base. The switch, attached to a small electrical motor, winds a small armature connected with a pulley spring which starts the cable rolling from the opposite side. When it arrives at its destination the "Zepp" releases a switch, shutting off the motor. A red light flashes to signal its arrival.

CANDY SELLER SAVES PENNIES TO PAY $2,500

CLEVELAND (UP)—Once a month for the past eight years, a roly-poly man has appeared at the White Eagle Savings and Loan Association's office, and smilingly deposited 25 rolls of pennies in 100-penny packages, in part payment on a $2,500 mortgage.

The man is Frank Sikora, candy-store proprietor.

For eight years Mr. and Mrs. Sikora have scraped together the penny profits from newspapers and candy bars and put them away until the end of the month, when he would make the usual payment.

While business men were struggling through the depression and dodging creditors, the Sikoras were pulling through on penny trade.

"A penny saved, a penny earned," Sikora says, "they mount up."

He saves a few silver dollars.

FORMER GUARD OF CZAR FINDS AMERICA GOOD

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UP)—Herman Mauruschat, now merchant, a member of the Russian Czar's Imperial Select Guard in 1899, is satisfied that he found the promised land when he came to America.

He came to America 27 years ago and changed his name to Merchat because "my children have American ideas and Americans seem to like short names."

A young soldier, he was chosen from the ranks to serve as guard to Czar Nicholas from 1899 to 1903. Those were years of peace in Europe and Mauruschat recalls: "Often I marched shoulder to shoulder with Emperor Franz Josef of Austria, Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, the Shah of Persia, Victor Emmanuel of Italy and—ach, so many others."

"Well, things have changed much since then—yes, very much. I do not think I would like to go back. Oh, for a visit perhaps, but to live, no."

"We could not have things like this over there today. No indeed," he said, pointing toward his comfortable home.

Merchat has been employed by the National Tube Company ever since his arrival from Russia. Soon he will be eligible for pension.

After his service in the Imperial Guard, he worked on a German railroad to get money enough to come to America "because my frauin was over here."

too, and says proudly, "I now have 72."

The Sikoras have three children that take turns behind the counter.

Sikora has only 150,000 more pennies to go before the full mortgage finally is paid. The amount doesn't bother him, however. After wading through the troubles of the depression on pennies, he has a spirit that can face anything financially.

"It's easy," he says brightly, "you never miss pennies."

McINTYRE'S BILL FOR PAROCHIAL AID IS BEATEN

COLUMBUS, April 29 — (UP)—The McIntyre bill, to provide free transportation for pupils in parochial and private schools, was killed today by the motor vehicles committee of the house when it completed its sessions without considering the measure.

The bill, already passed by the senate, was to have been acted on today by the house committee. When no one appeared at the scheduled meeting time to support or oppose the bill, Rep. William Hudlett, D., Cuyahoga, chairman, announced he would entertain a motion to adjourn the committee.

U. S. STEEL GOES UP AT OPENING DESPITE TENSION

came in face of sharp recessions abroad. London at the opening underwent one of the heaviest selling periods since 1931, with U. S. Steel dropping below 100 in American equivalent. Near the close prices firmed appreciably from their lows. Paris was a heavy seller and on the Paris bourse the opening found prices breaking sharply, but there was a spirited recovery near the close. Industrial shares broke in Bombay. Heavy selling developed in gold shares on the Capetown exchange.

The selling of gold shares—which reportedly was taken about $50,000,000 in paper profits on the Capetown exchange in the last fortnight—traces to uncertainty over the U. S. government's gold buying policy. There has been no change announced in this policy, despite the nervousness abroad, and Washington observers feel that any such change—if there is one—cannot be taken without a conference with the British and French.

Speculation Watched

There also has been some worry about government attitude on foreign funds in this market and on speculation by the public. It is not indicated, however, that government officials will take any action to quiet public trading. It was considered unlikely in Washington today that margin requirements would be lifted above the present 55 percent level.

SEN. ROBINSON HITS PLAN FOR 15 PERCENT CUT

WASHINGTON, April 29—(UP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, D., Ark., today said he is opposed to the plan to "impound" 15 percent of departmental appropriations in an economy drive.

"I don't think the 15 percent cut as proposed is practicable or that it can be operated to accomplish notable economies," Robinson said. Under the proposal, reported to have the endorsement of President Roosevelt, 15 percent of all departmental appropriations would be impounded and authority would be given the president to release portions of that 15 percent as he sees fit.

Robinson said he preferred the horizontal 10 percent cut in all appropriations proposed by Sen. James F. Byrnes, D., S. C.

VIET PALACE TO RISE ABOVE EMPIRE STATE

Building to Be 1,377 Ft.,
With Statue of Lenin,
Plans Disclose

TO BE WORLD'S HIGHEST

Main Hall of Building to Seat
20,000 Persons

MOSCOW, April 29.—(UP)—The projected Palace of Soviets, designed to be the tallest and the largest building in the world, will top the Empire State building literally by a head.

An architect's drawing of the building, published when plans were completed, showed the head of a giant statue of Lenin which will surmount the structure completely above a line projected from the top of the Empire State. Lenin's upraised arm parallels the height of the Empire State and his outstretched finger exceeds it.

The great statue, to be constructed of stainless steel, will be 328 feet in height, the head itself 45 feet high, the arm 98 feet long, ending in a thirteen-foot finger stretched over Moscow.

Height To Be 1,377 Feet
To the top of the statue, the height of the building will be 1,377 feet, as compared with 1,248 to the top of the tower of the Empire State, and 1,046 for the Chrysler building.

Deducting 328 feet comprising the statue, the usable portion of the building will be 1,049 feet in height. Plans for the building have changed often since it first was projected, although work has progressed on the foundations. Plans are now declared to have been worked out in every detail and finally completed.

The base of the structure will be 1,500 feet long and 836 feet wide, comprising an area of 131-263 square yards.

The steel substructure of the building will weigh 228,000 metric tons and will consist of alternating cylindrical and conic parts. Above this the lower construction, 254 feet in height, will consist of 32 pairs of huge columns resting on steel plates, while the upper structure will be of chromium-copper steel, the formula for which was worked out after two years of experimentation.

Hall To Seat 20,000

The main hall of the palace will seat 20,000 persons in a round of 390 feet. Seats will be arranged in 51 rows. The hall will occupy an area of 14,352 square yards with a total volume of 970,000 cubic meters.

Part of the circumference will be assigned to seats for members of the Presidium, diplomatic corps and Soviet and foreign press. During conferences the audience will occupy the area of the hall, but when necessary the main floor space can be transformed into an indoor sports field or arena for

He Killed Because She Was "Mean"

ALBERT H. WATTS puffs on a cigar after allegedly confessing he killed his sister-in-law, Miss Helen Stahl, 50-year-old cripple who lived with the Watts in Chicago. "She had it coming," he told police. "She was the meanest person in the world, bar none." Miss Stahl, left, died after the slayer struck her twice with a hammer and then thrust his fist in her throat to make sure of death.

JOAN BENNETT, ACTRESS, READY TO ASK DIVORCE

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—(UP)—Joan Bennett, blonde movie actress, was separated today from her second husband, Gene Markey, scenario writer. Plans for a divorce were announced.

Miss Bennett said she would charge incompatibility, and would obtain custody of the two children, Diana, 9, and Melinda, 3, by mutual agreement. Diana is her child by a previous marriage to John Martin Fox of Seattle, whom she divorced in 1928. Markey adopted Diana last year.

Markey and Miss Bennett were married March 16, 1932. She is the daughter of Richard Bennett, veteran stage star, and the sister of Constance and Barbara Bennett, actresses. The divorce suit will be filed, she said, when she completes work on her picture "Vogues of 1938," late this week.

Markey had moved out of their home in Beverly Hills into an apartment when Miss Bennett announced demonstrations by lowering the seats into a basement.

A circular foyer, formed by two rows of pillars supporting the central portion of the building, will encircle the large hall, displaying large paintings which will depict different episodes of the civil war and socialist construction.

A small hall will seat 5,775 persons in an area of 4,168 square yards, designed to be the biggest hall for theatrical productions in Europe. Its stage will occupy 1,425 square yards.

Terraces Around Tower

Terraces around the tower portion of the building, particularly the terrace planned at the feet of the Lenin statue, will afford a wide view of Moscow.

Designed to rapidly evacuate the 30,000 persons who may occupy the building simultaneously, 62 escalators and 99 elevators have been designed. Thirty thousand persons will be able to leave the building in 10 minutes, and elevators will make the trip to the base of the Lenin statue in three minutes.

Ventilation of the big halls will be accomplished through air vents in the backs of the seats to eliminate drafts.

It is estimated that the statue of Lenin will be fully visible only 90 days of the year, the rest of the time hidden partly or completely in clouds.

PAYROLLS BUY FARM PRODUCTS

Consumers' Power to Add Supplies Hold Fate of Men of Soil

COLUMBUS, April 29.—One of the reasons for the rapid decline in farm income from 1929 to 1932 was the fact that city people had less to spend and one of the causes for the improvement since 1932 has been the fact that the incomes of city people have been on the increase, according to V. R. Wertz and E. P. Heiby, rural economics department, Ohio State University. These economists say that not only the quality, but also the quantity and variety of farm products demanded by the consumer depend on the consumers' purchasing power. In periods of low income, the consumer cannot pay for variety and quality in his diet, but when income rises consumers start buying higher quality and larger variety of farm products.

This connection between urban prosperity and farm income makes it necessary for farmers to pay considerable attention to business conditions in cities. The Ohio State University economists point out that business conditions are not quite in as good a position as a comparison of present levels with those of depression years would indicate. Allowance should be made for a normal continuance of the trends that were in effect before the depression began when 1937 is compared with 1929.

Danger spots for farmers and city dwellers alike which are pointed out are labor difficulties, possibility of rampant speculation, military entanglements, and a rush to profit by boosting prices. The University men say that stable or gradually improving conditions are much to be preferred over alternate booms and depressions.

Linguist estimates that a city dweller reads or hears 50,000 words a day. Yet some people never seem to get tired of talking.

FORD AND MINISTERS SPLIT OVER SLOT GAME

Conference Held in City Hall Results in More Arguments

PASTORS EXPECT TO ACT

"Not Policemen," Members of Clergy Declare

CHILLICOTHE, April 29 — Mayor James E. Ford and the Roan County Ministerial association came to a definite parting of the ways, Wednesday, after an hour and a half conference in the mayor's office at City Hall.

The association's anti-slot machine committee called on the mayor to run the gambling devices out of the city, and the mayor, so the committee declared, flatly refused.

Mr. Ford refused to discuss the conference with reporters who waited in the mayor's outer office while he and Officer Clark Graves were closeted with the committee — the Rev. D. A. J. Kestle, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, Rev. W. L. Kuhn, pastor of First U. B. Church, and Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of Salem Evangelical Church.

Branded As "Show-down"

The conference, the committee explained, was a "show-down" with the mayor, so far as they were concerned. Reporters who had heard loud and angry voices, interspersed with occasional laughs, drift through the thin partition of the mayor's private office, had jumped to the same conclusion.

After the meeting, Dr. A. J. Kestle, spokesman for the committee, stated: "It was not a particularly friendly visit. The meeting was merely a continuation of a friendly one we had with Mr. Ford on Monday. We thought we would give him one last chance to enforce the law as it pertains to slot machines. As far as we were concerned it was a show down."

The committee spokesman related that the mayor had offered to make arrests provided they first file charges against violators.

"We explained we are not policemen," Mr. Kestle went on, "but we did make what we consider a fair proposition: We offered to file charges against any violators who might flaunt an order issued by the mayor banning the machines. Mr. Ford refused to issue an order, and that's that."

The ministers refused to discuss their next move, but said the question would be discussed at a meeting to be conducted at Trinity Church. They explained the meeting would be private, but admitted there might be some others present beside ministers.

Sheriff Gets Rich

WIDESPREAD and highly profitable financial enterprises of Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton of Harlan county, Kentucky, came under the senate civil liberties committee spotlight as the committee continued hearings in Washington. Chairman Robert M. La Follette of the committee accused a group of Kentucky coal operators of "permitting" Middleton to "build up his personal fortune by speculating with state and county tax money." La Follette made his charges after the sheriff had refused to answer questions about his financial affairs on grounds that he might "tend to incriminate myself" in connection with a possible income tax prosecution. Sheriff Middleton readily conceded he had acquired $102,728 worth of real estate and securities since he took office in 1934, although his salary never amounted to more than $4,460 a year.

Workers Over 65 Win Social Security Rights

Employees over 65 in Pickaway county, who work in factories, shops, mills, stores, offices and other places of business not excluded under the Old-Age Benefits and Unemployment Compensation programs of the Social Security Board may now get Social Security account numbers.

The new registration step was taken primarily as an aid to states in administering unemployment compensation laws. Application for an account number by an employee 65 years of age or over is voluntary in so far as the Social Security Act is concerned. However, the same type of account number card will be issued to those 65 years of age and over as has been issued to the workers.

State unemployment compensation laws cover workers of all ages. Since state agencies will use Social Security account numbers, such account numbers are needed for workers 65 years of age and over as well as for the younger employees. In order to promote efficiency and uniformity, therefore, we are allowing for enumeration by all workers on a voluntary basis.

Procedure to be followed by aged workers is the same as that for others. They should get their application blanks at the post-office, and after filling them out completely, transmit them to the local postoffice which will issue the number. No postage is needed in mailing applications to post-offices.

Information on applications for account numbers, by agreements between the official state unemployment compensation administrations and the Social Security Board will be held as absolutely confidential and will be used by the state agencies as well as by the Social Security board solely in administering Social Security laws.

Use of account numbers by states in administering unemployment compensation laws and their use by the government will be advantageous to employers as well as workers in that only one number need be recorded for both the

BOOKS OF A LOST AGE
 THE boys of a generation or two ago used their geography books as a screen for the reading of such adventure stories that were at once alluring and forbidden. Perhaps they do not know the source of the Nile, nor the principal mountains of Russia, but we will be willing to bet any odds that the memory of those stirring tales, so surreptitiously devoured during classes, will remain ever green.

Their good judgment has now been borne out with the quest of V. Valta Parma, curator of the Rare Book Room of the Library of Congress at Washington. He is endeavoring to prepare a descriptive list of the first editions of the Harry Castlemon books, including such titles as "Frank the Young Naturalist," "Frank in the Woods," "Frank on the Prairie," "Frank on a Gunboat," "Frank Before Vicksburg" and "Frank on the Lower Mississippi." All sought are first editions of the "Go Ahead" series, published in 1868, of which "Tom Newcombe" is eagerly requested. Mr. Parma also wants one particular book of the "Rocky Mountain Series"—"White Horse Fred," published in Philadelphia.

The identity of the author of the Castlemon books has caused speculation. Bibliographers give credit to Charles Austin Fosdick, an uncle of the New York minister, the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, although there are some who believe that a Captain C. B. Ashley might have written the books. This, of course, is of little concern to the youth of the land. What they want is good, solid adventure with plenty of shootings and killings thrown in for good measure, and a bigger and better geography book in which to hide it.

SPORT FOR SPORT'S SAKE
 FROM Baltimore comes the news that Johns Hopkins University has adopted a revolutionary sports policy. Admission fees and team guarantees for athletic contests have been abolished. From now on spectators will be privileged to attend these events free of charge, and the visiting squads will pay their own expenses, as will Johns Hopkins in the case of out-of-town games.

It is an interesting experiment certain to be watched closely by all college administrators. The major features of "commercialized" athletics will be eliminated at once. No one at Johns Hopkins, whether athlete or press agent, will have his eye glued on the "gate."

Of course, this kind of a program will make it quite impossible for the Baltimore institution to offer athletic scholarships, a factor which, in turn, may have rather disastrous effects insofar as the quality of the university's teams is concerned. The college, moreover, will have to compete against institutions which are not running

Tom L. Stokes, a political commentator for whose opinions both official Washington and the capital's newspaper corps have a high respect, spoke in the most casual fashion in a recent article of "the new party that" President Roosevelt "has envisioned."

It was just an incidental reference. Tom did not take the trouble to assert that the president does "envision" a new party. He simply took it for granted that everyone knows he does.

And it's a curious thing that everyone, at least here, does know it, and yet no one mentions it as something he has just discovered. Wouldn't one suppose that, at an earlier stage of the game, some observer would have exclaimed, "Good gosh! the president envisions a new party!" But by no means. Realization of the fact that this is what he "envisions" developed so gradually that no one sensed it until now it is generally assumed that everyone was aware of it all along.

It isn't news. It simply has dawned on political folk by degrees imperceptibly, as old age creeps on.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

AFL NOW BORING FROM WITHIN
 WASHINGTON—A. F. of L. leaders secretly have decided on a new line of strategy in their bitter struggle with the C. I. O.

Unable to stop the onward sweep of the rival unions by the frontal attack of suspension and denunciation, Federal master minds are going to see if they can get better results by guerilla raiding and harassing.

In the past the A. F. of L. has made no attempt to invade C. I. O. territory. But from now on it will encourage not only raids on its rival's ranks but dissension within them. As a first step, anti-Lewis miners in Illinois and Pennsylvania will be offered A. F. of L. charters.

As one Federation chief put it, "We aim to stir up so much trouble for Lewis and his allies in their own camp that they won't have time to think about anything else."

THREE AUTHORS

The new line of attack is the work of the three so-called "moderate" Federate big-guns—George Harrison, president of the railroad clerks, Matthew Woll, head of the photo-engravers, and Dan Tobin, boss of the teamsters' union.

These three opposed the original suspension of the C. I. O. unions, and at last week's meeting of the A. F. of L. Executive Council, called to expel the insurgents permanently, they succeeded in persuading Green and his die-hards to take a different course.

They warned that an expulsion move would cause other unions to bolt, further depleting A. F. of L. ranks and revenue. "Fight fire with fire," urged Woll; "give Lewis a dose of his own medicine. Bore from within, set up rival unions and put him on the defensive."

After three days of wrangling, this advice was accepted. The expulsion plan was shelved until the Federation's annual convention in Denver this fall. Meanwhile a special meeting of handpicked unions, whose loyalty is unquestioned, will be held May 18 in Cincinnati to approve a special assessment on all A. F. of L. members to raise a fund to finance the new strategy.

SPIRIT WORLD

One of the greatest vogues among the ladies of Washington is astrology, fortunetelling, and the spirit world. Mrs. Roosevelt has had two astrology readings in the past year; also twice has called in a fortune-teller.

This particular fortune-teller has become one of the most popular in Washington, is called in at various fashionable dinner parties.

Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, wife of the ex-Senator from New Hampshire, is interested in both astrology and numerology. After one of Mrs. Keyes' lectures, an astrologist asked to give her a reading, then sent a bill for $25. Mrs. Keyes understood the reading had been voluntary, refused to pay and put the bill in the hands of a lawyer. Finally she settled for $10.

their athletics on the same idealistic plane. And that may mean one-sided scores.

But at a time when college football in particular is feeling the brunt of much adverse criticism this attempt to purge intercollegiate competition of all sordid elements will merit the thoughtful attention of everyone interested in the sound development of American amateur sport.

World At A Glance

Roosevelt himself premeditated a new party when he came into office.

I think that the program insidiously crept up on him, too.

Anyway it is recognized now.

Oh! the old party names probably will survive, but not the same two old parties. Indeed, they do not survive at present. Recently we witnessed the amazing incident of an dyed-in-wool old-time Jeffersonian as Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina appealing to Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader in the upper congressional chamber, for support against the administration.

THE ANTIS
 Without many exceptions the elder statesmen on Capitol Hill are anti-administrationsists.

This is understandable. These oldsters feel that their various constituencies are pretty dependable; their notion is that they can defy the White House and still be re-elected. They may be wrong but that is how they reason.

The youngsters are the chaps on whom the president chiefly relies. And the youngsters, most of them,

DIET AND HEALTH

Modern Women Accused of Nervous Instability

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
 SINCE the very beginning (Genesis 3), there has been a tendency to blame everything on the woman. She just can't seem to do things in a sensible and healthy way, according to her critics. It used to be correct; she faced too tight, that's what made her unhappy. Then she took 'em off, or so far as I know, she did, and that didn't please any better because, so they said, this let the abdomen sag and we have a race of viscerotronics.

High heels, and long skirts that swept the dust, and too much underwear, and starvation diets, have all had their innings for criticism. Well, here's the latest. The modern girl "demands to be treated as an equal, expects to be treated like a duchess, and she behaves like a washer woman."

Geoffrey Theobald has arisen and on the subject "Some Effects of Emancipation on the Health of Women", he says:

"She copies the coolie woman of the Chinese bazaar in plucking her eyebrows, the Siamese peasant in bobbing her hair, the Arab in letting her nails grow like claws and painting them a hideous red, the courtesan in painting all visible parts of her anatomy, and in painting and powdering herself in public betrays incredible vulgarity. She is so restless that she cannot sit peacefully at home; she cannot eat her meals without smoking, and is unhappy unless she is at the dance or cinema."

Male Is All Right?
 In the meantime, it is presumed that the male—that superior and completely reasonable animal—is doing everything exactly the right way. He doesn't smoke too much. He doesn't do anything to injure his efficiency, such as getting outside of about a hundred highballs some evening. He dresses sensibly—oh! yes, as if he were going to the North Pole, in order to sit in offices where the temperature is 80 and the humidity that of the Sahara desert. He doesn't join about 15 more lodges, clubs and luncheon groups than he can afford on the grounds that it makes contacts, and then run himself to a frazzle trying to get a speaker—any speaker to speak about anything, just so as to have another speech—at the club luncheons.

No, the men never do anything illogical or nerve-racking in this modern culture of ours.

Overdoing in athletics is another cause for criticism of the modern woman. "The nervous strain of competitive sport is probably greater for women than for men. The indulgence in competitive sports seems to have little effect on the posture of women. Few of the picked British female athletes had really good chest expansion and many were anemic." The modern cult which permits violent exercise during menstruation has no sound foundation.

It is even said that marriage, which should make for nervous and mental stability, is likely, under modern conditions, when the wife insists on living an independent life, to bring its own problems. The new responsibility of domestic management, the problems and conflicts of companionate life, the spiritual complications of sex life, and the hazard of reproduction all affect a woman's health and nervous system more profoundly than the man's.

So say the pundits, the guardians of our health, but I don't know. There have always been these Jeremiah's wailing about anything new. There always seems to have been something causing nervous instability. In the meantime, the population has been increasing by leaps and bounds, so the woman must have been doing her part.

Personally, I like the new woman. I don't find her so nervous or unstable. She seems to me to be looking on the world with calm and confident eyes. If above those eyes, the eyebrows are plucked, it's O. K. with me also. I think it's pretty cute.

CHAPTER 37
 JACQUELINE saw Lutman move toward her, and just for a moment it seemed that all strength had left her, and she was powerless to move. Then, as she felt him touch her, and saw his face close to hers, she placed her hands against his chest and, with a strength born of desperation, thrust him furiously backward. His arms released her and he staggered, clutching at the back of a chair to steady himself. But before he had regained his balance she had pulled open the drawer of the writing desk, snatched out the revolver, and was pointing it, in a none too steady hand, straight at the Colonel's body.

"If you come a step nearer, I'll shoot."

For a moment, as he stood tensed, with clenched hands, staring at her, she thought that he was about to spring. Then he relaxed and the familiar smile returned to his lips.

"Your hand is shaking, Jacqueline," he said calmly, "and if you're not very careful that revolver may go off."

"If you move, it will."

He shook his head.

"I don't think so, my dear. You have too much intelligence. A shot, a corpse, a rifed desk, and an agitated young woman with a revolver in her hand—it would make a pretty tableau when the police arrived, and quite a convincing bit of evidence. You realize that as well as I do. Put the revolver down."

"No!"

"Then once again you leave me no choice."

He stepped toward her, calm and unconcerned, with his gaze fixed on her eyes, and though she raised the revolver an inch or two, pointing it straight at his heart, and placed her finger on the trigger, he did not waver. And the next moment she felt his hand grip her wrist and the revolver wrenched from her grasp. Lutman slipped it into his pocket.

"One of the secrets of success, Jacqueline," he said smoothly, "is to know when the other man is bluffing. When the other man is a woman, that's easy: they're so transparent. And now that the melodrama is over, perhaps we can talk matters over in a reasonable way. He waved a hand toward the couch. "Come and sit down and see if we can arrive at some agreement."

For a few moments the girl hesitated. Then she said, "Colonel Lutman, if what you have told me is true—that you knew nothing about the will and that Mr. Stuckey is responsible for the whole scheme..."

"Sad, my dear, but all too true. Naturally, you don't want to believe anything wrong of the estimable Charles..."

"I don't believe it," said Jacqueline. "But if it is true, it can be easily proved." She pointed to the telephone. "Let me telephone to Mr. Stuckey and get him to come here now. I needn't tell him why—just say that I'm here with you and want to consult him—and when he arrives you can tax him with all you say he has done, and we'll see what he has to say about it. I shall soon know if he's lying."

The Colonel pondered for a few moments and then gave a nod.

"Very well," he agreed. "And if Charles is found guilty, I take it you will revise your opinion of my unworthy self and reconsider your refusal."

"Charles won't be found guilty."

"We shall see," smiled the Colonel.

"And while I'm telephoning," added Jacqueline, "you'd be usefully employed, Colonel, in mixing me a cocktail."

He nodded.

"All things considered, the most appropriate one would be a 'corpse reviver,'" he said, crossed to the sideboard and began to busy himself with glasses and bottles. Jacqueline, watching him with alert eyes, picked up the telephone receiver.

"Hullo! This is 7096 speaking."

"No need to give this number," remarked the Colonel. "It's only a local call."

Jacqueline took no notice. She placed the mouthpiece close to her lips and cupped a hand round it.

"Yes, 7096. No. 13 Brandleigh Mansions—Lutman is the name—Colonel Lutman. Will you please phone the police and tell them to come here immediately..."

There came a crash as Lutman dropped bottles and glasses, and the next instant the telephone receiver was wrenched from her hand as she was thrust violently back; she stumbled and collapsed on the floor, with Lutman, his face livid with fury, standing over her.

She scrambled to her feet, and, as she did so, Lutman turned away and began rapidly signaling to the operator.

"Hullo! Hullo! Operator? That call you had just now—yes, that's right, I'm sorry, but someone was stupid enough to play a practical joke. No, the police are not required. I'm sorry you should have been troubled, but—Darn!"

He dropped the receiver and ran toward the door. But he was too late; it closed with a bang as he reached it, and he heard the lock click over. He turned, hurried through the communicating door into his bedroom, and so into the corridor. But as he reached the front door of his flat and flung it open, the whine of the descending elevator told him that pursuit was useless. With a scowl he returned to his sitting room and was just in time, as he glared down at the street from his window, to catch a glimpse of Jacqueline, running swiftly, rounding a corner and disappearing from view.

Jacqueline ran until she reached Park Lane. There the figure of a solid-looking policeman directing the traffic at the entrance to the park gave her a sense of security, and she slowed down to a walk. But though she kept telling herself that she was perfectly safe now, that here on the busy street nothing could possibly happen to her, from time to time she found it impossible to resist the impulse to cast a quick, nervous glance over her shoulder.

She made her way to a bus stop,

You're Telling Me!
 THE FEDERAL government, which has been very diligent in the establishment of departments and bureaus to instruct the citizenry how to do everything from planting rhubarb to making toy animals out of pipe cleaners, has overlooked an important item: the general public does not yet know how to fold a road map.

This is not the general public's fault, for the average road map is constructed along the generous lines of a circus tent.

It is easy enough to unfold a road map. All you do is grasp one corner firmly, stick your hand out of the car window and give the map a couple of shakes. Like the mainsail of a clipper ship, the map will unravel itself in the brisk breeze.

Road maps were invented as a means to instruct the tourist on how to get to where he was going, but this idea, apparently, has long since been discarded.

It is almost impossible to locate any given community on a modern road map because all the space is taken up showing the sites of barbecue stands and roadside taverns where the tourist may acquire a museum piece in the form of a sandwich and the world's worst cup of coffee—at metropolitan hotel prices.

The detours shown on the road maps we have had occasion to use have been absolutely correct except those along the route we were traveling.

Bernice Evans Becomes Richard Immell's Bride

Living Room of Home Scene of Pretty Ceremony

Dignity and simplicity of ceremony marked the wedding of Miss Bernice Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, of Kingston, and Mr. Richard M. Immell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wood Immell, of Kingston, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Evans chose April 28 for her wedding, this day marking the 37th anniversary of the marriage of her parents.

The wedding took place in the living room of the Evans home, at 4 o'clock, with the Rev. Paul Niswander of Kingston, officiating.

The living room was decorated in a color theme of pink and white, using tulips, japonica and narcissus in profusion. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Wallace Evans offered a program of piano music, concluding with "O. Promise Me."

The bride was attractive in an afternoon dress of blue crepe. She used blue accessories and wore a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. There were no attendants.

A wedding supper was served in the dining room immediately after the ceremony. The guests were seated at two tables, which were centered with floral arrangements in pink and white, surrounded with burning pink tapers in tall crystal holders. Mr. and Mrs. Wood Immell, Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Niswander were seated at the bride's table with the new Mr. and Mrs. Immell.

Covers at the other table were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Willis Corcoran, Miss Mary Margaret Immell, John Alfred Immell, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Korst, Miss Betty Evans and Miss Phyllis Evans.

Mrs. Immell was graduated from the Pickaway school, and the Chillicothe Normal school. She attended Wittenberg college, Springfield, and taught in the school at Hopetown, before she became a teacher in the Walnut township school.

Mr. Immell has been engaged in farming since his graduation from the Kingston high school.

During the evening the couple left for a wedding trip through northern Ohio and Michigan. After June 1, they will make their home on the bridegroom's farm near Chillicothe. Mrs. Immell will continue her school work until the end of the year.

When the mother learns that Billy is wealthy she determines to divorce the professor from her daughter. She is successful in this. FRENCH ADDED TO INJURY LIST AS CUBS SKID INTO LEAGUE CELLAR

LOMBARDI CLUBS LINE DRIVE AT CHICAGO HURLER

Reds Annex First Game of Season as Paul Derringer Hurls

MUNGO HALTS GIANTS

Phillies Climb to Third Place With Victory

NEW YORK, April 29 — (UP) — Charlie Grimm's moans were heard all over the National league today. His Chicago Cubs are in last place, winner of only one game out of six but his main headache is the Cubs' casualty list — three regular pitchers and the No. 1 catcher on the shelf.

Desperate for pitchers the Cubs have recalled Newell Kimball from Los Angeles and he's due to join the club today in Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati won its first game yesterday, 10 to 3, at the expense of the crippled Cubs, breaking a four-game losing streak. Ernie Lombardi hit a line drive at Southpaw French in the first inning which broke a bone in his glove hand. He pitched to three batters and then had to leave the game. The Reds collected 14 hits off French, Root and Bryant. Paul Derringer scattered 11 hits to win his first game. Phil Weintraub hit a homer for the Reds.

Van Mungo in Form
Van Mungo, Brooklyn's fireball ace, pitched the best game of the season, holding the Giants to three hits to win 3 to 2. After losing his first two starts Mungo came back to handout the Giants, one of the three hits being a scratch. Hal Schumacher was the losing pitcher.

The Philadelphia Phillies blasted out 15 hits and beat the Boston Bees, 7 to 4, to move into third place in the National league. The Phils clouted Danny MacFayden for six runs in the first inning. Earl Brown, Phil's first sacker, rapped out four singles in five times up.

The New York Yankees continued to set the American league pace, defeating Washington, 6 to 1, behind Lefty Gomez's 5-hit pitching. Cecil Travis, Senators' shortstop, hurt his right knee sliding to third base in the 7th and was carried from the field. Joe Casarella was the losing pitcher.

Gerald Walker kept up his hitting rampage as Detroit rocked the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 5. Walker hit a homer and two singles, giving him 13 hits in 18 times at bat in four games for an average of .722. Roxie Lawson, although tapped for 11 hits, won his second game of the season. The Tigers made 15 hits off Hildebrand, Caldwell and Van Atta.

Mel Harder held the White Sox to five hits as Cleveland slugged out a 7 to 2 triumph over Chicago. The Indians routed Thornton Lee, ex-teenmate in the third inning, with a five-run rally. Earl Averill came out of his batting slump with three hits, including a homer. The Cardinals-Pirates and Athletics-Red Sox games were rained out.

New series were opened Thursday in the American association race with only one and a half games separating teams of the first division.

11 OF KENTUCKY DERBY HORSES NOW AT DOWNS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29 — (UP) — Arrival of War Admiral, Court Scandal, and Fairy Hill, three of the east's outstanding candidates for the Kentucky derby, brought the total of derby horses on the scene of the 63rd running of the three-year-old classic to 11 today.

War Admiral, Samuel D. Riddle's Chesapeake stakes winner, is co-favorite with Pompoon to win the $50,000 special at Churchill Downs.

Court Scandal, racing for Townsend S. Martin, was runner-up to War Admiral in the Chesapeake event after winning the Flamingo stakes at Hialeah. William Dupont Jr., owns Fairy Hill, winner of the Santa Anita handicap.

About This And That In Many Sports

John Walters Rates Title of First Fan

S'MORE JOTTINGSCircleville's No. 1 baseball fan is John Walters, the E. Main street grocer; he drove to Cincinnati last week, through rain the greater part of the time, only to learn the game had been postponed because of that same rain--Paul, his son, is one of the brightest prospects on next fall's football team--Mel Harder's arm is okeh, Pytlak's health seems good, so the Indians are going to be tough to get along with in the A. L. this season--The 990 rolled by the Yates Service station quintet is a nice high score in anybody's league; too bad another spare couldn't have been added to reach the coveted 1,000 mark; that's not good bowling, that's oblivion--Will Scott Carpenter's horse, Candescant, have as good a summer this year as he did last?

Several of the local boys did quite well by riding along on the beautiful animal's back--Tis soft-ball weather right now, so Charlie Scott, who played third base on the city's first championship team, the Ohio Utilities, has been named umpire-in-chief for the loop this summer--Charlie is the best man on balls and strikes the league has had in many, many moons--Joe Lynch is drafting the schedule for the loop; it'll be announced sometime next week--The Yellowbud team will look like a Watts family reunion, Charles Bill, Dwight and Robert will be listed--Pitchers for the Yallerbudders are Clarence Shaw and Clyde Derronson, the latter acting as manager--With the inseason ball being used this year, it wouldn't be a bad idea if all infielders, in fact all players, were permitted to use gloves--When that pellet comes at you, it's just a case of self-defense, and anything goes--Prepare, fans, for some interesting play with this type of ball being used--Red Birds beaten by Indianapolis, Reds beating Cubs, Van Mungo beating the Gernts, and Earl Averill clubbing a four-master with the sacks loaded were Wednesday's baseball highlights

JACK TORRANCE IS KNOCKED OUT BY 254-POUNDER

NEW YORK, April 29 — (UP) — Burly Jack Torrance of shot-pulling fame can return to his cup's beat on the sunny streets of Baton Rouge today fully satisfied his ladder on the heavyweight boxing place is no higher than the lowest rung.

Jack, reduced from 328 pounds to 253 pounds, was kayoed in the second round of the Hippodrome's all star juggernaut show last night. Torrance, who became someone of a figure in heavyweight circles recently when an imported fighter allegedly refused "to take a dive," succumbed to the knock-out punch of Abe (Simple) Simon, a 254-pounder from Brooklyn, after a minute and two seconds of the second round of their scheduled six-round preliminary bout.

SOCIETY BANS HANDSHAKE

OROVILLE, Cal. (UP) — Members of the Camp of Saints which located here seven years would seem to have little chance of ever becoming good politicians. They are opposed to hand-shaking on religious grounds. Estimating that the average citizen shakes hands three times a day, they calculate they have escaped 7,665 handshakes since their organization.

Traffic Squad Herds Sheep

KALAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UP) — It took the Klamath Falls traffic patrol by surprise when it was called to the local airport to serve as sheepherders pro tem. A wandering band of sheep from a nearby ranch had roamed onto the airfield, making it impossible for two planes circling overhead to land.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

YOU WON'T BE BORED
DO YOU ever feel as if you will some day be so familiar with the game of contract bridge that it will bore you? If so, please be assured that this will never be the case. Every once in a while a deal will come along which gives you an opportunity for a bid or play so satisfying that you are more than glad you kept up your interest.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)
This deal gave your chronicler enough thrill to last him for some time, furnishing, as it did, an opportunity for a very rare kind of squeeze play. To begin with, the bidding provided something of a kick. One-No Trump in the South started it. North bid 2-Spades, South 2-No Trumps, North 5-No Trumps, and it was taken to 7-No Trumps.
West led the heart 10, which was taken by the K. With 12 tricks in sight, it was clear that the hand would be a cinch if the spades would break. Three rounds disclosed that situation, making a double squeeze necessary.

Four diamond tricks were run, the heart Ace cashed and then the diamond 10 laid down. This was the squeeze card. West, who had the high spade, could not throw it, so trashed one of his three remaining clubs. The spade in the North hand was now useless and was discarded. The pinners were then on East. If he tossed his heart J, the last three tricks would be the club K, the club Ace and the heart 5. So instead he discarded a club, whereupon we took the Club Ace, the club K and the club 9.
